RC Mini racers reminds me much of Revolt, but without the imagination.

The game involves racing toy RC cars around various tracks in either of 3 modes, Circuit Race, Sprint and Coin Race. Circuit is exactly that, Sprint is A to B and Coin Race has you searching the map for randomly spawning coins. At the end of each race you win money that can be used to unlock other tracks or can be saved up to buy coins.

Coins are used to unlock other RC Cars or mod them by changing the colour or wheels or the arial. Getting coins can be either fun or a grind depending on your point of view as it takes quite a while to acquire them.

The graphics are basic but suitable for this budget racer. The only fault I noticed was occasionally the wheels clipping through the floor. One other peculiarity I noticed is that the wheels are not actually attached to the vehicle. While this in no way spoils the game, it just look strange when the cars flip over.

Control is by either keyboard or game pad. Controls are not changable so your stuck with what is. I use the gamepad and steering, accerate and brake are all on the left thumbstick. Dual thumbsticks would have been much better, or at least the option of.

The gamepad only controls the cars though, not the menu. So mouse clicking is also a must.

The cars themselves sound and handle like toy electric rc cars from the local toyshop. So don't expect any Pro racing here. Weapons are also included, Missles, mines and a speed boost.

This game is a fun single player (no multiplayer) rc racer with weapons. Its a budget game but does what it does pretty well. As long as you don't expect to much from it its worth the asking price.

Good, well done.

. Fun game but no one is every online. kinda fun, not worth the price every decision branch just causes some frustrating bs later on. Pseudo-twin stick top-down-view shooter, where you can get "Game Over" screen without actually losing. Just because. Or maybe it's some hitbox stuff, like the enemy hitting you when he's not even close. Horrible controls, speed of gameplay, sounding and visuals. Adding the usual: a terrible color palette, absolutely unbalanced, mindless gameplay, and 5000 achievements just for the single opening of the "game." Another trashy fake instead of a normal game in your profile. Soon such pseudo-developers will gain enough strength to occupy more and more places on the market, like cancer cells that replace normal ones. I can only wonder at those who accept this willingly. 1/10 mark.. I initially bought this because it looked interesting and was cheap but honestly, I cant even say it was worth my $5. There really isnt much of a story and the game starts you off with absolutley no objective or idea what the hell it is youre supposed to be doing. items dont always make sense and the controls are weird. while the music is good the rest of the enviroments are just barren nothingness. nothing is described to the player in this game and nothing really makes sense or even has a purpose. honestly not even worth $3. I dont know what game the other reviewers here are playing, but I promise you, this is not worth your money.. Badly ported game. Having to double-click on UI elements, GUI and text in general is way too large for a desktop game.

Developer could atleast have made SOME effort in releasing the tablet version for PC, but no. The wave of crappy mobile ports on Steam needs to end.

The misspells, poor dialogue etc. I can overlook.

The gameplay itself is fine, enjoyable, but the obvious porting makes it a pain to play.

Adapt UI for a desktop PC, zoom the game out a bit, remove (or shrink) "Share" buttons. Then you might have a good game.. Levels feels unfinished but still it's pretty fun.. The Blue Flamingo. The developer and store page call it a Shoot Em Up, but it seems more like an art-class project than a videogame. The visuals are amazing and definitely unique but with very limited assets the visuals quickly become redundant and theoretically anyone can swap in assets on a well made shoot em up and arguably have a better game than this. Its like the developer never played a shoot em up before, the hitboxes are\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665 the sensation of speed or danger is terrible, the enemy placement is pretty bad, the models are huge and they take up a large portion of the playable area and lastly the game gives incentive to using a smaller portion of the field of view and just flying through as opposed to engaging. At the end of the day the game is a miss, I can't recommend it.

if you are looking for a grand strategy game, this ain't it.

AI that just walk straight, no campaign, lack of unit choice and no battle tactics.

Worth about a quid for 1-2 hours of gameplay before you get bored, instead of buying this buy TABS or one of the total war games.. This game is not really interesting. You can kindof smash the keys and there is no noteworthy progress. Also, it won't detect every keypress which makes it harder in a unfair way.

I don't even know why I have this game, but I would not recommend it. The last update news on the Game page are half a year old, so it also looks somewhat left behind!. A Masterpiece.. Actually a very impressive DLC. It adds a new mode with Dreadnought and it is very good an it brings a new wind to the game. But there is one big problem - there is not enought people to play it. It is practically impossible to find a match now. Only chance is to setup a game with your friends.. Helicopter simulator with GTA-like controls is not a simulator.. Best game ever. After i finished it, there was a time i absolutely could not play anything else. All games seemed so dum, boring ant not like prey. Atmosphere is fantastic, very good plot. It is scary, and challenging. Lots of options how to do one and the same thing. I recommend this game to all who like space science fiction games and shooters. I am considering to give it a 3rd run.
